

Education

What is Education?

Investing in your most valuable asset, the employee, is critical for long-term business success. Professional education helps companies accomplish several things: retain top-notch employees, help foster long-term career development goals with each employee, ensure that the workforce continues to meet the company's evolving internal needs, and make the company more marketable overall because of a wide variety of employee skill sets.

Momentum's Methodology

The Momentum Leadership in Knowledge (M-LinK) education program offers continuing education options that help you meet your organization's human capital and organizational needs. Whether you would like to edit off-the-shelf courses to reflect your organization's culture, develop original new courses using our methodologies, mix and match Momentum topics with your custom topics, offer standard courses to prepare your employees for industry certification examinations, or offer special coaching/mentoring programs, we have the solution for you.

Momentum is a licensed education provider and seasoned veteran and in many areas of the professional education arena. Our variety of standard courses and courseware resources has been selected based on industry recognition and customer demand. We are also skilled at customizing coursework to your company's specific needs and can assist your organization in determining the courses and certifications that best meet your needs.

Many of our courses are mapped to specific exam objectives and designed to assist professionals with certification preparation including:
